

November 27, 2020

Hello everyone,

It is hard to believe that we are now on the cusp of December as we are preparing for a holiday season that will be much different from those in the past. We will be sharing some more information about the holiday season in the coming days and weeks.

I wanted to provide you with a short update and inform you that we continue to work with Public Health and the provincial government to implement the changing directives and precautions.

I am pleased to inform you that the outbreak at St. Peter's Residence at Chedoke was declared over by Public Health today. Idlewyld Manor continues to be in outbreak with still a few resident and staff cases. I also wanted to advise you that we have no active COVID-19 cases at any of our 15 supportive, transitional and congregate settings. As always, we will continue to provide you with up to date information on our website.

You may be aware that all of the Thrive Group of organizations have been certified again as a Great Place to Work®! We have now applied to be considered one of Canada's Best Workplaces through the Great Places to Work® program. The Great Place to Work® certification is a world-wide designation awarded to organizations meeting the highest standards in workplace culture. The key factor in building a great workplace is trust. Our certification is based on the confidential surveys completed by our staff earlier this fall. We look forward to celebrating this achievement with our teams and I would like to extend a special thanks to our incredible staff for continually rising to the occasion, particularly during these very challenging and different times. Thank you for being so committed to our clients, residents and family members – you are doing a fantastic job and are very much appreciated.

I hope that everyone is safe and healthy – take care and have a good weekend!
